

Where can I get a battery operated LED strip light?

Get set for battery operated led strip light at Argos. Same Day delivery 7 days a week, or fast store collection.

How to control battery LED strip lights?

Battery-powered LED strip lights can be controlled using the 3-button controller on the connector. The 'MODE' button allows for switching between 20 dynamic modes. The 'COLOR' button enables 20 color switching. The middle 'SPEED' button adjusts the speed under dynamic mode and the brightness under static mode, offering flexible and smooth control.

How do I choose a battery for my strip lights?

Choosing a battery for your strip lighting is easy. You'll only need to consider these three things: voltage, capacity, and connectivity. Strip lights run on either 12V or 24V. Because batteries are compact, you're going to have to connect them up in a series to match your LED's voltage requirement.

Which type of battery is used for a strip light?

To power a DC12V strip light with AA batteries, you need to connect 8 pcs AA batteries in series to achieve the required output voltage. Normally, we can use 1.5V AA batteries, but since the strip light requires 12V, we need to connect them in series to add up the voltage.
