

Does insurance cover solar panels?

Solar panel insurance doesn't usually come with a free replacement battery and inverter once they decline below a certain level, either - but the Sunsave Guarantee does. Your system will also be insured by Aviva against damage, fire and theft. We'll manage any warranty claims you want to make, too. Will your home insurance cover your solar panels?

Does your business need solar panel insurance?

Businesses that install solar panels face unique challenges in ensuring adequate insurance coverage. Comprehensive commercial solar panel insurance protects the investment if a business owns the panels. When solar panels are leased, the responsibility for insurance typically falls on the panel owner.

How much does solar panel home insurance cost?

The annual cost of solar panel home insurance ranges from £118 to £152, which seems reasonable compared to the potential risks. Once you decide to install solar panels, inform your home insurer. Solar panels contribute to rebuilding your home's value, so it's important to list them in the insurance coverage.

Will solar panels affect my home insurance?

When you decide to install solar panels, it's imperative to inform your home insurer about the change. Solar panels can affect the rebuild value of your home, which is a critical factor in your insurance coverage. Your insurer can then advise you on any changes to the cost of your policy as a result of the installation.

Should you buy home insurance if you have solar panels?

Buying home insurance is expensive at the best of times, even more so with the added cost of solar panels. But it's important to remember that, as with all kinds of insurance, the cheapest option is rarely the best option.

Should I pay more for my insurance after installing solar panels?

Paying more for your insurance after having the panels fitted is not always a bad thing!
