Do you need a solar panel warranty?

Going solar is a big investment, and you'll want to make sure your solar panels are protected and will last for years to come. That's where a solar panel warranty comes into play. Your warranty can cover the cost of things like replacement panels, repairs and labor. It can also cover the performance of the solar panel system.

What is a performance warranty on solar panels?

Conclusion A performance warranty guarantees that the solar panel will not degrade below a certain percentage over a specified period, usually 25 to 30 years. This type of warranty is essential because solar panels naturally degrade over time.

What are the different types of solar warranties?

There are three different kinds of solar warranties you'll want to be on the look out for: product, performance and labor warranties. If you're buying a solar panel system, the ideal warranty package should contain all three. Let's take a deep dive into what each type of warranty covers.

How long does a solar panel warranty last?

This warranty covers defects in material or workmanship and typically lasts between 10 to 25 years. If a panel fails due to manufacturing defects, environmental issues, or premature wear, the manufacturer will usually replace it. Some warranties even cover the full system for as long as 25 years.

What is a power warranty for solar panels?

A power warranty for solar panels states the expected output of a panel after certain periods of time (eg 5 years, 10 years, 20 years). All solar panels are affected by gradual degradation in efficiency, so the output will decrease. If the panels do not perform as promised, you may be able to get them replaced or repaired - but some power warranties do not cover defects.
